LOVE STORI

Dallas-based JEAN LIU'S colorful, contemporary designs aren't your parent's patio furniture. The designer recently launched STORI MODERN, a concept that came to her while working for another outdoor furnishings brand. "I couldn't get excited about the lines," Liu says. "I felt like they catered to an older generation." Seeing an opening in the market, Liu got to work on pieces that would appeal to modern sensibilities. The designer uses eco-friendly materials in the production of her six striking collections—each of which has a literary title, such as Fairy Tale, Journal, and Tabloid. Stori Modern has another notable edge: It is online only. Her direct-to-consumer approach allows Liu to create high-quality pieces at competitive prices (she estimates 15 to 25 percent less than what they'd cost at a retail store) and offer free next-day shipping to Dallas-area shoppers. storimodern.com

TAKE IT OUTSIDE

Texas-native Holly Hunt's reputation for high style is beautifully represented in her latest foray—HOLLY HUNT OUTDOOR. The 25-piece collection promises to elevate any patio with its cast concrete tables, angular aluminum chaise loungers, and upholstered daybeds and sectionals.

HAPPY CAMPERS

What happens when you combine the classic Adirondack chair with a Dallas-based furnishings company known for defying convention? A unique seat, of course, but also a perfect paradigm for the "less is more" advocates. DAVID SUTHERLAND'S GREAT CAMP COLLECTION features a simple, sophisticated take on the outdoor staple. The large-scale, clean-lined chairs are offered in both teak and powder-coated aluminum and come in 20 different colors. "This is not a chair you happen upon on the landscape," David Sutherland says. "This is a chair that demands you use it." 1025 N. Stemmons Fwy., Ste. 340, 214-742-6501. sutherlandfurniture.com
